7.3 Institutional Distinctiveness

Institutional distinctiveness

Our college was established in the year 1998. It has been working for the educational, social and economic development of students for last 25 years. Although the college is located in an urban area, most students are children of rural farmers, farm laborers. Therefore our students are economically weaker, and share economical responsibility of their families, hence they cannot take their education regularly. we are trying to bring them into main stream of education.

We think our college should not be only centre of formal education but it should also inculcate human values among people of this region.

A number of innovative activities undertaken by the college clearly show institutional distinction such as: Teacher-student relationship, sports facilities, visits to nomadic settlements and old age homes, guidance for competitive examinations, guidance for female education and pre-marital counseling etc.

Parents in rural areas are not very keen on sending girls for education but the enrollment of girls in our colleges is more than boys. The effort of our college is to develop self confidence in girls. Most of the girls are anemic so we arrange camp of hemoglobin test and physical efficiency test, give them medicine and also guide about diet. Along with this, self-defense training (Lathi - Kathi) for girls is provided in the college. For the safety of girls, the college also has CCTV cameras.

Along with academic development of students, various sports are also given priority in the college for physical development. For this, sports equipment and playground are available in the college. The sports equipment and playgrounds are also used by students from other colleges. The college sports equipments and grounds along with our students are used by other students too. This initiative taken by our Physical Education department provides financial as well as sports facilities to the students. Students of various colleges practice kho-kho and volleyball on the field every day. The college received four color coats in sports in the last five years. Students have participated in international level sports such as Judo-Karate, Powerlifting, Running. Total 33 students have participated in various sports at state and national level.

Students need specialized guidance in various subjects to survive in today's competitive era. Guidance is provided by college teachers as well as expert guides for competitive exams. Political events items are discussed daily by the Political Science Department and daily important news are displayed on the 'Knowledge Corner' board. It definitely benefits all students. Many students have achieved good results in competitive exams. To remove fear of examination the students are counseled about the examination and if there are any problems regarding the result, they are resolved by the Examination Grievance Redressal Committee and the students are guided in this regard from time to time. The college tries to create social awareness and a sense of responsibility among the students. For this, places like settlements of nomadic tribes and old age homes are visited. At the same time, the college tries to spread the thoughts of different saints and social reformers in the society through various programs on cleanliness, environmental protection, gender equality etc.
